Chinese Reds Advance; India Rejects Talks

NEW DELHI (AP) — Chinese Communists are advancing into northeast India at four points, and India has rejected Peiping's proposal for peace talks on Chinese terms, an official spokesman said today.

Chinese troops have driven to within 10 or 12 miles of the important monastery town of Towang, in northeast India, to the west and are also pushing toward it from the north.

A fresh Chinese attack into India has been launched at Asia on the northeast frontier about 100 miles east of Towang.

At the eastern end of the northeastern border, near Burma, an Indian post has fallen and the Chinese are driving down the Lohit River valley.

At the western end of the disputed Himalayan frontier, in Ladakh, the Chinese have attacked for the first time in Changchenmo River valley and have captured a post.

Although the spokesman declined to comment on the over-all Ladakh situation, it appeared to observers that the Chinese might have overrun all Indian military posts on what the Chinese claim to be their territory.

High Indian officials said a Red Chinese proposal for a meeting between Prime Minister Nehru and

Search for Stolen Cash Wrecks Home

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—U.S. Atty. W. Arthur Garrity said today that articles seized Tuesday by U.S. marshals in a search for $1.5-million stolen Aug. 14 in a Plymouth mail truck robbery will be analyzed to see if they have any connection with the nation's biggest cash haul.

Investigators spent 11½ hours in the $18,000 North Weymouth home of Thomas R. Richards, 37, and uncovered foot lockers, a shotgun, a bullet proof vest and a pistol. "We believed at the time we obtained a search warrant that there was a million dollars, more or less, in Richards' home," Garrity said.

"Although we didn't find a million dollars, the searches did find several articles specified in the warrant, namely the lockers and the shotgun."

Garrity said the government will not assume any responsibility for the damage caused to the one-story home. He said the searches had removed some wall panels, flooring, tore up a 10-by-20 foot concrete patio and the concrete back steps.

The search warrant was obtained on the basis of information in some part offered by Richards himself during questioning some time ago, Garrity said.

He said he was not aware personally of Richards' whereabouts today but added he would not authorize a warrant for his arrest on the basis of evidence now on hand.

Searchers also found 33 ten-dollar bills hidden by a board fastened to the cellar ceiling against the plumbing. It was not identified as stolen.

He then went on to give his own personal testimony of his dramatic conversion and call to preach after seeing much action in the South Pacific during World War II, including being among the first wave of U. S. Marines to hit Japan.

Services are held twice daily, 7:15 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

Koreans Bet They Offer Best Fun

By CONRAD FINK

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Despite their stern austerity campaign, South Korea's military rulers are betting heavily that they can provide the American GI the off-duty fun he seeks.

The question bothering some Koreans—and many high-ranking U.S. officers—is whether what the government will provide will conflict with what American mothers and church groups think the GI should get.

The answer may determine the success of Walker Hill, a giant fun center the government is building with $5.5 million squeezed from South Korea's lean treasury. It is named by the Koreans in honor of Gen. Walton H. Walker, the U.S. 8th Army commander who defended the Pusan perimeter in the early days of the Korean war and then drove to the Yalu River. Walker was killed in a jeep accident north of Seoul in December 1950.

Walker Hill, overlooking the Han River 10 miles east of this capital city, is scheduled to open in December and start gathering some of the dollars that many of the 50,000 U.S. servicemen in South Korea now carry to Japan on furlough.

Walker Hill's beautiful 15 acres will contain low-cost hotels, motels, swimming pools, hunting areas, fishing facilities, libraries and steam baths.

There also will be bars, night clubs, dice tables, roulette wheels, slot machines, card games and, according to informed sources, pretty hostesses.

One Korean official says "We wonder sometimes what all the moms in Ohio and Pennsylvania will think."

Gen. Guy S. Meloy, top U.S. soldier in Korea, says he knows from long Army experience that American mothers and church groups will react vigorously. Consequently, he says, if there is prostitution or crooked gambling at Walker Hill, the entire complex will be declared off limits and the Korean government will be "out of luck as far as getting GIs is concerned."

Showdown Is Near in Blockade of Cuba

No Inspection Cries Castro in Defiance

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP) — Asserting he has the weapons to "repulse any aggression," Prime Minister Fidel Castro rejected any limit on Cuba's arms buildup Tuesday night and called the U. S. arms quarantine an act of piracy.

"Our arms are defensive," Castro declared as he defied a U.S. proposal for the United Nations to send in an inspection team to investigate President Kennedy's charge that Soviet missile bases are planted in Cuba.

Anyone trying to carry out an arms inspection in Cuba "had better come ready for combat," the bearded revolutionary leader told the nation in a 90-minute television address.

Castro scoffed at Kennedy's warning in his speech Monday that the flow of Soviet arms to Cuba was a menace to the Western Hemisphere.

He ridiculed the Organization of American States for its solid support of the U.S. quarantine of Cuba. He called the organization's inter-American defense pact a scrap of paper only "valid for those following in the flock of imperialism."

Castro, who had mobilized Cuba's military forces right after Kennedy's blockade announcement, was 30 minutes late for his address.

President Osvaldo Dorticos, dressed in a militiaman's uniform, and other high government officials sat in the studio. An announcer said the prime minister was speaking "at a particularly delicate moment in the history of the world."

Castro emphasized he would tolerate no outside interference on the question of arming Cuba and implied it was the United States that had forced him to arm.

"We will acquire the arms we feel like acquiring," Castro said, "and we don't have to give an accounting to the imperialists. Cuba has the right to arm itself and defend itself and we have had to do so. What would have occurred if we had not been armed at the time of Giron Beach?"

This was a reference to the invasion at the Bay of Pigs by a force of U.S.-backed Cuban exiles in April 1961.

Castro spurned the U.S. plan before the U.N. Security Council to send U.N. observers to see that Cuba complies with Kennedy's demand that Soviet offensive weapons be dismantled and removed.

"We reject all types of investigations, no matter where they come from," Castro said. "Cuba is not the Congo. We will not disarm."

Castro said the Cuban people were not worried by Kennedy's warnings.

However there was a rush on food shops by housewives apparently fearful of new shortages. There was a brisk sale of candles, useful in blackouts and power failures.

Cuban Crisis Developments at a Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are the major developments in the Cuban crisis

State Department officials reported that Argentina, Honduras and Costa Rica have offered help to U. S. naval forces in the guarding of arms shipments to Cuba proclaimed by President Kennedy Tuesday night effective today.

Two hours after the effective time of the blockade, the Defense Department said it had no reports of any ship interceptions.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry sent back to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow a copy of Kennedy's quarantine proclamation. Observers in Moscow said the action amounted to a Soviet rejection of the U.S. blockade. Later, however the Soviets asked for the copy back.

Groups of students demonstrated at the Moscow U.S. Embassy, but police dispersed them after several bottles of ink were thrown at the building.

Canadian officials searched a Cubana Airlines plane at Goose Bay, Labrador, but cleared it to continue to Cuba with two East German missile experts and five Czech technicians. The plane was delayed several hours.

Some Latins Offer Help in Blockade

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials reported today that various Latin American countries are now offering to help out in the U.S. quarantine of arms shipments to Cuba.

He listed Argentina and Costa Rica as two Latin-American countries which have offered to aid in the action against Cuba. He indicated he expected other offers would be received soon.

He said discussions are now under way with Argentine officials on the use of Argentine ships to aid in the quarantine.

Costa Rica, he said has no army but offered base facilities this morning for use in the anti-Cuban action.

The U.S. official said some bases in Latin America might be helpful to the U.S. Navy in carrying out its operation.

This official, declaring that the West faces its gravest crisis since World War II, described building of nuclear strike bases in Cuba as a Red power move, which he said must be met head on now, lest the Soviets try more elsewhere.

The State Department authority spoke to a group of visiting European broadcasters under circumstances not allowing the use of his name.

Bulletin

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, commenting on the U.S. arms blockade, said today the Soviet Union will take no reckless decisions nor "be provoked by unwarranted actions of the United States."

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev tonight said a "meeting at the highest level would be useful to discuss all questions that have arisen and to eliminate the threat of nuclear war."

Khrushchev made the statement in a message to the British philosopher, Bertrand Russell. The text of the message was broadcast by Moscow Radio.

Congressmen Accept Full War Prospect

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders grimly accepted today the prospect that full scale military action may be needed to back President Kennedy's move aimed at wiping out the Cuban missile threat to the Western Hemisphere.

Without exception, party leaders scheduled to confer with Kennedy late today on the crisis made it clear they recognized the risk of nuclear war is great. They are willing to take it.

Some of them expect a preliminary showdown with the Soviet Union in the shipping lanes almost momentarily. Others believe that if the President's demand for dismantling of Soviet controlled missile bases in Cuba is flouted, massive military action to take them over might come later.

The unanimous viewpoint that the crisis is heading toward a climax was sustained by a statement of Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

Dillon told a meeting of Latin American finance ministers in Mexico City Tuesday that if offensive preparations on the island are not halted immediately "further action will be fully justified."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, deputy Democratic Senate leader, told reporters that, come what may, the United States "is not going to tolerate what they have in missiles already or any expansion of them."

Humphrey said that in White House meetings he had attended here had been no time limit set on Kennedy's demand for removal of the bases.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro should not longer have any doubts that the United States is ready to protect Western Hemisphere security.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview the situation is so tense that almost anything can happen. His deputy, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, said the prospect of a general nuclear war cannot be thrust aside.

After their conference with the President today, some of the congressional leaders expect to return to their home states to resume their campaigning. They were called in from around the country for an emergency White House meeting Monday just before Kennedy announced the United States was throwing a quarantine around Cuba to halt ships carrying offensive weapons to the Caribbean island.

Ten minutes later, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sent the Navy's Task Force 136 were called in from around the country for an emergency White House meeting Monday just before Kennedy announced the United States was throwing a quarantine around Cuba to halt ships carrying offensive weapons to the Caribbean island.

Arkansas Has a Close Call

SAIGON Viet Nam (AP)—Capt. Herbert C. Dammros of Flippin Ark. and Chief Warrant Officer Okla. had a close call here Tuesday when their helicopter was shot up by Communist gunners.

The helicopter was one of five escorting 10 troop-carrying helicopters in an operation 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

Two Viet Cong bullets hit one of the two rocket pods slung to the landing gear. The pod contained eight high-powered air to ground rockets and it burst into flame.

They made an emergency landing in a watery field which extinguished the flames. Then they took off and returned safely to their base. Neither man was hurt.

Zero Hour Has Passed, No Red Ships Sighted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Communists approached an armed showdown on the high seas at mid-morning today, as Soviet cargo ships plowed toward Cuba and American naval power converged on them.

Strung out along the approaches to Cuba were an estimated 25 Soviet ships. Some of them quite possibly were carrying offensive weapons to the Cuban Communist ally—a movement which President Kennedy says must be stopped.

At 9 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, Kennedy's quarantine went into effect and the historic moment was at hand. The first warships headed in toward the first Soviet cargo ships.

A few hours before, the Navy had broadcast radio warnings to all shipping to stand clear of the area, that it could become dangerous.

There was a report that Soviet Embassy officials here were claiming that no Soviet ship would heed the stop signal of any U.S. warship.

Cuba's Fidel Castro saw the quarantine as an act of war and Moscow took a grave and angry view.

For more than a year the tension between the United States and Cuba had mounted. Then on Monday night, Kennedy made his move, announcing a quarantine with the clamp on offensive shipments into Cuba. He was accepting the fact that anything might happen as a result.

The Defense Department made public aerial reconnaissance photographs which it said proved the charge that the Soviet Union was installing or has installed ballistic missiles, almost certainly with nuclear warheads, on Cuban sites.

The Defense Department kept secrecy on the total of Navy ships and planes assigned to the quarantine operation and on the precise areas in which they were operating.

All indications pointed to a force of a size and type which seemed more than ample for the job. Obviously, the preparations were for events even more far-reaching than stopping merchantmen at sea, which might flare up from this first action.

The Washington Post said Soviet military attaches were spreading the word at a Soviet Embassy reception Tuesday night that Soviet ships steaming toward Cuba are under orders not to be stopped or searched.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin declined to refute the statements. Speaking of an assistant naval attaché who had made the remark, Dobrynin said: "He is the one who knows what the Navy is going to do, not I."

Kennedy signed a proclamation Tuesday night formally invoking the quarantine against offensive weapons—an act he said was needed to defend the security of the United States.

Ten minutes later, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sent the Navy's Task Force 136 were called in from around the country for an emergency White House meeting Monday just before Kennedy announced the United States was throwing a quarantine around Cuba to halt ships carrying offensive weapons to the Caribbean island.

The blockaders—already poised across the Atlantic—were told to use the minimum amount of force necessary to enforce the ban but skippers were given full authority to bring into play "whatever force is required." Clearly, this meant sinking Soviet vessels, if necessary.

Cotton Crop Harvest Is 70 Per Cent

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Agricultural Extension Service said today that about 70 per cent of the cotton crop has been harvested but that grades have been below average and losses are heavier than usual.

The Crop Reporting Service said that reports show considerable variation in yield per acre in that some fields are turning out unusually well while others are below expectations. It added that some growers have lost sizeable amounts of cotton due to boll rot.

About three-fourths of the cotton crop has been harvested in the northeastern counties, two-thirds in the east central section and almost three-fourths in the southeast. Harvesting was hampered last week because of wet weather.

FCC Asked to Reverse Refusal

By GEORGE BARTSCH
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Earl C. Walck, an attorney for the Federal Communications Commission, asked FCC examiner Thomas H. Donahue today to reconsider his refusal to hear testimony from residents of southeastern Arkansas towns around Pine Bluff.

Donahue ruled Tuesday he would not hear testimony unless it dealt with the case. He said he had received no indication that these persons wanted to do anything but declare how much they want KATV's transmitter near Pine Bluff.

"That's taken for granted," he said. "If they have information relative to the case at hand, I'll be happy to hear them."

Walck asked for the reconsideration, saying the ruling might be regarded as denying public witnesses the right to testify.

Donahue emphasized that he had not denied their right to give pertinent testimony. This is the third day of a hearing to determine whether television station KATV would violate an agreement with the Pine Bluff Chamber of Commerce if it moved its transmitting tower from Jefferson County to a point 12 miles west of Little Rock.

Witnesses for the station were expected to conclude their testimony today.

Witnesses for Pine Bluff and the chamber were expected to then take the stand.

The first witness this morning was Mrs. Claude Carpenter of Little Rock.

Mrs. Carpenter, whose professional name is Barbara McHenry, testified that KATV had provided news coverage and public services for a number of Pine Bluff charity drives on her women's program on weekday afternoons.

Under cross-examination Mrs. Carpenter said she never had originated a show in Pine Bluff.

Witnesses forecast Tuesday a bleak economic outlook unless the FCC allows the station to move its transmitter to Little Rock.

Woman Placed on Probation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Judge J. Smith Henley put Mrs. Jewell Dillinger Self on two years probation Tuesday after hearing a strange story of how a baby-sitter stole part of $3000 she had embezzled from the Bank of Arkansas here.

Mrs. Self, 22, a bookkeeper at the bank pleaded guilty to the embezzlement charge. Asst. U.S. Atty. M. Drew Bowers said she took the money from an open money sack in the bank vault.

Later Bowers said she found about $3,000 of the money missing from her home. She called police who questioned the babysitter and got a confession.

Mrs. Self said the embezzled money was spent on clothes, groceries and a television set and was all spent within a month. She said her husband earned $45 a week working in a restaurant.

Air Guard to Be Used, Faubus Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday the Arkansas Air National Guard probably will be used in some manner in the Cuban crisis.

But Faubus said there is no immediate likelihood of a call-up of regular National Guard forces.

The governor discussed guard units at a news conference during which he talked by telephone with Brig. Gen. Frank A. Bailey commander of the air guard who had just returned from Washington.

Faubus said the Air Force had asked for specific confidential information about the Arkansas Air Guard and "I think they'll want some units."

Arkansas has two jet squadrons—both specializing in reconnaissance—located at Little Rock and Fort Smith. Reconnaissance units would be vital in an operation such as anticipated around Cuba.

Faubus also announced that as chairman of the Southern Governors Conference he had notified President Kennedy that the governor's of the 17 conference states stood solidly behind his Cuban decision.

"We pledged our complete support in the defense of our country and our freedom," the message to Kennedy said.

Faubus said he checked the text of the message with other conference governors.

Civil Defense units around the state reported a flood of telephone calls from persons seeking information about stocking fallout shelters in case of a nuclear attack.

Civil Defense officials said the callers did not appear unduly alarmed.

War Baby Stocks Figuring Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—"War baby" stocks were strong on Wall Street today as the market reacted to news of the arms quarantine of Cuba. The over-all market was mixed in heavy trading.

Steels, aircrafts, rails and space issues gained on speculation of new defense activity.

Wall Street analysts said the market was acting with some relief now that the White House has ended the crisis suspense that had gone unexplained, dropping market prices.

Many analysts said the effect of the Cuban situation could easily be favorable to the market.

Commodities went up, as they usually do on war scares.

Berlin Escape Show Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co. has postponed indefinitely a televised program showing construction of a Berlin wall tunnel and the escape of East Germans.

NBC said the program was postponed because of the critical international situation that has developed in the last 24 hours.

Mobilization Is Started By Castro

By GEORGE ARFIELD

HAVANA (AP)—Declaring the U. S. blockade of Cuba is "an act of war," Havana broadcasts said today all Cuban military forces numbering hundreds of thousands have been mobilized.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro will address the nation later and "will make important declarations," one announcement said.

President Kennedy's statement that Soviet ballistic missiles are stationed in Cuba was ridiculed by a television commentator. Luis Gomez Mangumet, editor of El Mundo and an advisor to the Foreign Ministry, accused Kennedy of "a whole series of falsehoods about Cuba."

Asserting that the United States appeared to be ignoring Soviet guarantees to defend Cuba, the commentator said that "the blockade measures are not only an act of war, but also a provocation for tragic world events."

Another announcement said Cuba's delegate to the United Nations, Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui, had asked for an urgent meeting of the Security Council to consider the U. S. blockade.

Havana radio said the order for mobilization came from Castro and was put into effect quickly.

"Our combat units rapidly placed themselves on a fighting basis," the broadcast added. "Hundreds of thousands of men were mobilized in the course of a few hours."

"The nation has awakened on a war footing, ready to repulse any attack. Each weapon is in its place and next to each weapon is a heroic defender of the fatherland. The entire government is ready to die beside the people."

"Over the length and width of the island, with more fervor than ever, sounds the thunderous roar of millions of voices in the already historic cry of 'Fatherland or death. We will conquer!'"

Even before the announcement of the mobilization, groups of militiamen began appearing in Havana's streets carrying flags. Otherwise there was no sign of unusual military measures.

The guard around the Presidential Palace was reinforced, and leaders were reported in conference there and at the armed forces ministry.

While Kennedy directed part of his speech directly to the Cuban people, it was doubtful if many Cubans heard him in Havana. Most were on their way home from work at the time of the broadcast.

(The U. S. Information Agency said all its transmitters in the United States were rebroadcasting the speech to Cuba at peak listening hours.)

Neutralist diplomatic circles were far from enthusiastic about Kennedy's arms quarantine of Cuba. They predicted Premier Khrushchev will react with a new blockade of Berlin and moves in such trouble spots as Laos, South Viet Nam and Formosa.

Only oneshowboat ever went to sea. The Hippodrome was walloping from the Mississippi Sound to Mobile Bay when it got caught in a storm that raged for 20 hours.

Rusk in Plea for Support From Latins

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk today appealed to the Organization of American States to back President Kennedy's military quarantine of Cuba.

"We have incontrovertible evidence that medium and intermediate range missile bases are being assurances that the buildup in Cuba," Rusk told an emergency meeting of the OAS.

Rusk added:

"The facts demonstrate that the U. S. S. R. is making a major military investment in Cuba." He said this had been done "under the cloak of secrecy" while giving assurances that the buildup in Cuba was defensive only in nature.

"The Soviet government said in an official statement on Sept. 1 that the armaments and military equipment sent to Cuba were solely of a defensive nature," Rusk said, paralleling Kennedy's speech to the nation Monday night.

Rusk said the "offensive weapons" being installed in Cuba "can reach into the far corners of our hemisphere with destructive force."

He added that the United States is not the only target for such missiles which "could carry mass destruction to the major cities of this hemisphere."

"This new Soviet intervention," Rusk said, "mean as further enslavement of the Cuban people by the Soviet power." For the rest of the hemisphere, Rusk said "it means a strengthening of the Communist system in the Western hemisphere."

The situation, he said, "challenges as never before" the willingness of hemisphere nations to enforce their inter-american commitments for the defense of the hemisphere.

"As free nations we must act in defense of our democratic heritage," he said. The response, he continued, must be tailored, individually and collectively to the degree and extent that nations are able to do so in this hemisphere.

Rusk called for an immediate dismantling and removal from Cuba of missiles and any other arms which have an offense potential.

He also called on the American States to adopt, under the treaty of reciprocal assistance, all measures, individual or collective, including the use of armed force, which may be necessary to insure that the Cuban government will not continue to receive weapons and supplies from the Sino-Soviet powers.

Rusk called for hemispheric unanimity and said President Kennedy made it clear "we should prefer to solve this problem through peace but if others make grave mistakes the danger will be increased."

Argentina's ambassador to Washington, Roberto Alemann, took the floor immediately after Rusk finished to support the U. S. proposals.

Alemann said there had been unchallenged proof that Cuba is "engaged in building military bases at an increasingly rapid rate, not for defensive purposes but for offensive purposes."

Cuba Never Threatened U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has an answer to the question

Are the Soviets in Cuba doing any more, in establishing missile bases, than the U. S. has done around the perimeters of Russia?

The answer, in substance, is that the United States deployed intermediate-range missile bases to protect nations threatened by Russia and that Cuba has been under no such threat of attack.

The question was raised at a Pentagon briefing Monday night. An official spokesman gave this reply:

"There is a very, very basic difference between these two situations. It was the Soviet threat to Western Europe, including its flanks of the Scandinavian countries to the north and the Greek and Turkish nations on the south, that led to our support of Western Europe and to our arming the Turks and the Italians with certain nuclear weapons."

"There is no similarity between the provision of such weapons to nations under that threat, on the one hand, versus the arming of Cuba on the other — which obviously was not under the threat of nuclear attack from this country."

Says Reforms in Worship Are Needed

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The recognition that "more or less drastic reforms" are needed in public worship dominated debate today at the Roman Catholic Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The approximately 2,400 council fathers discussed for a second day proposed changes in the liturgy.

After the three-hour session in St. Peter's, a spokesman said that 16 council members—all cardinals or archbishops—argued for and against the proposed eight-chapter liturgical constitution.

The spokesman said that the council fathers showed an awareness that Catholic liturgy required "even greater and more sensitive attention" and was "in need of more or less drastic reforms."

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, presided at today's session, the fifth working meeting since the council convened Oct. 11.

Eight speakers argued on the project as a whole, the spokesman said. Among these was Joseph Cardinal Riter, archbishop of St. Louis, Mo.

The other eight spoke when the debate turned to individual articles in the first chapter of the proposed constitution. Among them was James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles.

Included in the discussion, the spokesman said, was a 15-year-old encyclical on the liturgy. Pope Pius XII cautioned in the encyclical against both blind attachment to the liturgy as it now exists and against total scorn of it.

The liturgy is getting its closest scrutiny since the reformation.

She Won't Be Invited Back!

Dear Helen: Recently two couples spent several days with us. One of the wives commented audibly on the meals I served. The first night she bustled into my kitchen just as I was paring the potatoes to put around the roast of beef. "I never eat potatoes," she remarked, "so count me out."

At breakfast next morning, she made a face over the blueberries and said that they must have soured for they tasted like wine. She's a teetotaler, or claims to be!

She couldn't stand the eggs: too soft-boiled for her ladyship. The bacon, which comes from Virginia and is hickory smoked, was sliced too thick. Well, that's the way country bacon should be sliced. My biscuits weren't as tasty as her homemade ones.

She even got up, went to my refrigerator, took out the chocolate cake I had baked for dinner, and served it to herself and my two children. She also helped herself to the fruit I was keeping for Sunday morning breakfast.

Never once did she comment favorably on any of my dishes, and I am a home-economics major who knows how to serve a balanced, attractive meal. I nearly flipped, but said nothing.

My own mother would not take the liberties in my home that this woman took. What do you think of her bad manners? —Dumbfounded

Dear Dumbfounded: You are correct in thinking your guest was guilty of a gross breach of good taste. A cardinal rule of social behavior is never to comment unfavorably on food served in the name of hospitality.

But another cardinal rule is never to show annoyance when such hospitality is abused, so long as the guest is under your roof.

So you behaved beautifully

Dear Sick of Cussing: Marrying to get away from home is jumping from the frying pan into the fire. If you're old enough to even if they're in the wrong doesn't help. All you can do in that direction is set them an example by being well-mannered yourself. Speak quietly. Choose your words thoughtfully, and say what you have to say with a smile, instead of a scowl. Also — pay your own way. True independence comes only through self-sufficiency.

My mother-in-law says, "Stop buying her (me) beer and cigarettes."

"My brother-in-law hates me because I refused to let him and his girl use our house as a motel."

We rent from my husband's sister and it's like living in a jail, she polices me so. When I plead with my husband to move, he says he wants to be near her — besides the rent is cheap. He said last night he would take the children and leave me if I didn't treat his folks better. I thought I married him, not his family. —Unwanted

Dear Unwanted: Keep your temper to yourself. By fighting your in-laws you are playing right into their hands. However, one thing is for sure, your husband must break those family shackles if he wants his marriage to survive. The less you oppose his people, the more reasonable he will be. House hunt on the quiet. See if you can't better your sister-in-law's bargain home.

Dear Helen: Every time I accidentally spill or knock over something, the air is blue with my parents' cussing. When I talk on the phone they tune up so loudly that my friends think I'm calling from a dive.

If I protest, Mom says, "This is our home, young lady. Marry"

Youth Robs Savings & Loan Co.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A shaggy-haired unshaven youth robbed a savings and loan company here of $954 in mid-afternoon Tuesday and a few hours later two young men were in custody facing federal bank robbery charges.

Police identified the two as Thomas Overton 19 of North Little Rock and Bobby Anderson Stark formerly of North Little Rock with no present permanent address.

Officers said Overton was identified by loan company employees as the man who approached Robert H. DeHaven company president pulled a gun and said "I want the money. No monkey business."

They said Stark helped Overton plan the robbery and met him afterward.

Stark was arrested as he tried to buy a car at a North Little Rock used car lot. Overton was fished in a lake near West Memphis, the district includes Crittenden, Cross and St. Francis counties.

Police said all but 50 cents of ties.

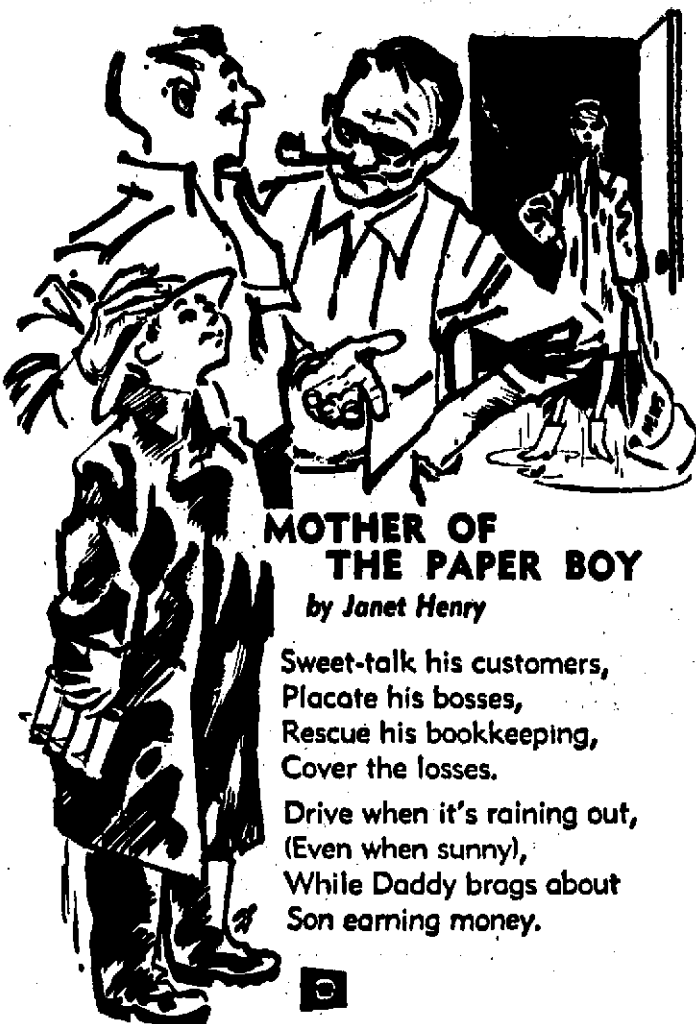

the loot was recovered. DeHaven said one of his girl clerks gave the man money on his (DeHaven's) instructions. "He told us he had three buddies outside and they would come back and kill us if we called police within three minutes" DeHaven said. "But we called police immediately."

State College Accepts Bids

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A low bid of $2,015,000 was submitted Tuesday by Granite Construction Co. of Houston, Tex., for construction of a block-long student union at Arkansas State College. Construction will probably get underway within three weeks. There were five other bidders.

Special Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dec. 11 was tentatively selected by Gov. Orval E. Faubus Monday as the date for a special election to choose a successor to the late Sen. Charles F. Smith of West Memphis in the 25th District. Smith drowned last summer while Rock used car lot. Overton was fished in a lake near West Memphis, the district includes Crittenden, Cross and St. Francis counties. Police said all but 50 cents of ties.

THE STORY: Barbara Green, one of Columbine's employees, suggests slow clothing and hair-do for Columbine, who as secretary of a girls' school had always dressed plainly.

IX
Probably a butterfly, when it bursts from a cocoon constructed by some ugly worm, is not astonished by the metamorphosis—because it does not remember itself as a worm. But Columbine Pepper Druggel remembered acutely being a worm, and how the worm looked and how the worm felt. As a matter of fact, she still felt like her old self and could not believe in the reality of what she saw in her mirror. Many things would have to happen before she would mentally fit her new and artificial exterior. In effect, she still was Columbine in a sort of masquerade costume.

This slender, chic, beautiful girl who stared back at her from the glass was not so much a delight as a problem. The habits of 21 years which had formed her were not to be erased by a dress in the mode, a dab of lipstick and a new coiffure.

She awakened early next morning, bathed, experimented with lipstick not too successfully, and went into her closet for a little gown which she had been told was suitable for morning wear. As she took it from its hanger she stumbled over the suitcase she had hidden there, and there came to her a disturbing thought: The strange person who owned the contents of this bag would have her own case and contents. She could remember nothing that bore her name. But the articles, especially the dresses, would certainly betray their owner as the dowdy young woman who had been a passenger on the Century and had changed to The Golden State in Chicago.

She descended to the lobby and said good morning to Mr. Simpkins behind the desk. That young man goggled, snatched for his dignity and spoke severely.

"Madame," he said, "I must ask you whom you are and how you gained admission to this hotel!"

"And I," replied Columbine, "must require of you—if you are to meet and greet the arriving guests—to refrain from the disgusting use of the pronoun 'whom' as the subject of a sentence."

Barbara Green came in from the patio and crossed the lounge. "WAKE UP, George," she said briskly. "Go wash your eyes with cold water. It would be a social error to toss Miss Druggel out."

"That," Columbine said, "I would not resent. There have been some alterations in my appearance, which excuses Mr. Simpkins' conduct. But there can be no excuse for being a wet smack of a nice Nelly. Only a person of a certain regrettable character would say, 'Whom are you?'"

"George Simpkins," exclaimed Miss Green in a horrified voice, "did you do that?" She shook her head as if such a thing were unbelievable. "Let's go get some breakfast."

important a member of this organization." His long nose with a tiny bulb at the end twitched and he twirled his mustache. "Mademoiselle," he said fatuously, "is tres charmante." "I am fond of salads," she said. "The dressing last night was excellent." "The basis is superb imported olive oil."

"Since my father's death," she said, "you have had imposed upon you additional duties?" "Ah, so sad, mademoiselle. Yes, many additional duties." "Such as purchasing? I understand that father always did the purchasing himself."

"After the consultation with myself," said Mr. Duchesne. "Naturally, you will continue as you have been doing."

When he had returned to his kitchen, Barbara eyed Columbine with a glint of humor. "His nose twitched," Columbine said gravely. "When does a rabbit's nose twitch?"

"Why," answered Barbara, "when it smells something enticing."

"So I have been informed. Our chef sniffed good nibbling," Columbine said. "Also, he is not a native of the boulevards of Paris, but of the borough of Brooklyn."

"How could you tell that?" "I induced him to pronounce the word 'oil'."

Barbara shrugged. "He pronounced it 'oil'." Columbine answered. "It is the shibboleth by which you may recognize a Brooklynite."

Leaders to Meet With President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will meet with congressional leaders at the White House Wednesday to review world reaction to his order quarantining offensive arms shipments to Cuba.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the President had fixed the new conference with the legislative chiefs for Wednesday in expectation that the Communists, then would indicate the course to be taken by the Communists.

Latta said that in Monday's White House meeting all of the world's potential danger spots were canvassed in relation to the action the President ordered taken against Cuba.

The consensus of the congressional conferees appeared to be that the administration believes Berlin and Turkey are the most likely targets for any retaliatory moves Russia might undertake.

The congressional members pledged solid support for the President in an action some of them said should have been taken many weeks ago.

Canadians Are Also on Alert

OTTAWA (AP)—The Royal Canadian Air Force Air Defense Command is on increased alert because of the Cuba situation, reliable sources said today.

However, this does not apply to any other segment of Canada's armed forces.

The Air Defense Command is part of North American Air Defense Command (NORAD).

Pictures Show Cuban Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Defense Department spokesman showed newsmen aerial reconnaissance photographs — enlarged 30 times — showing what he said were two Cuban missile launchers "aligned to a specific section of the United States."

Nearby, he said, were missile trailers and trucks containing fuel for the weapons.

The Pentagon declined to make the photographs available for publication at this time.

Mrs. Kennedy has called off a reception for poets attending the national poetry festival at the Li-

No formal reason was given for the cancellation, nor was any definite word given as to how long Mrs. Kennedy would abandon such functions.

Poultry Industry Gets Warning

FAYETTEVILLE Ark. (AP)—The poultry industry is heading into another period of expansion and depressed prices a University of Arkansas agricultural economist warned Tuesday.

W. J. Windham of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology said the price slump probably will hit next month.

Egg settings and chick placements indicate production in the fourth quarter this year will be up 10 per cent over last year, he said, but competition from red meat and turkey will not be as strong as in 1961.

Windham predicted the average prices for broilers for the quarter would be 14 cents a pound, seven per cent higher than last year but 11 per cent lower than in 1961.

Windham made his predictions in a market analysis for the annual poultry study day at the university.

Pay Hikes for State Workers

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Salary increases for lower paid state employees are in the budget recommendations Gov. Orval E. Faubus will submit to the Legislative Council next Monday.

Faubus would not discuss details of his proposals except to mention the raises. He said he did not believe in "starvation wages" for state employees.

Most top echelon government officials got generous raises in 1961 when Faubus first presented an executive budget for consideration by the legislature.

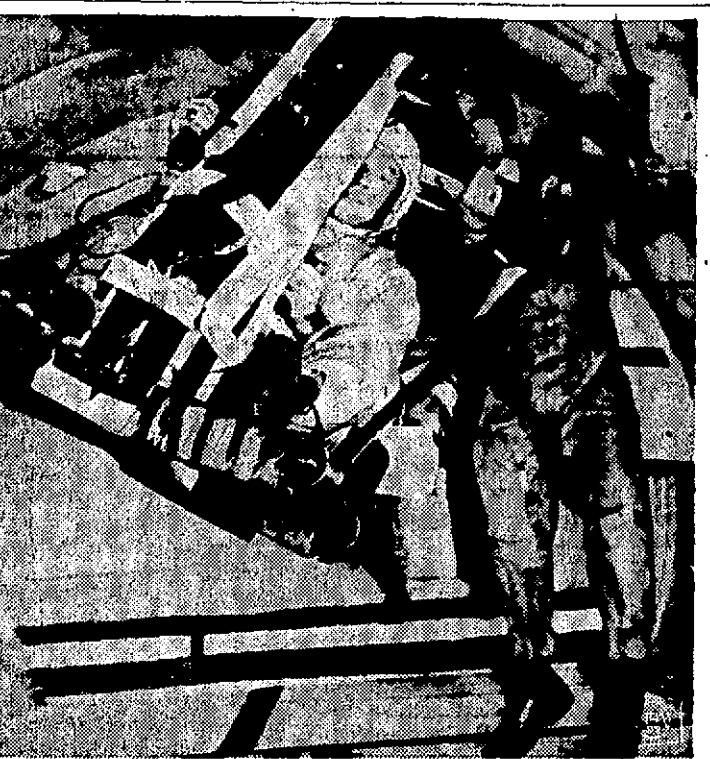

On another topic Faubus took issue with reports that Arkansas will lose 20 per cent of its population by 1980. He referred to a business bulletin which used a Census Bureau projection.

Faubus said he felt the figures were erroneous.

The Census Bureau said Monday the projection was only one of several and others showed the state gaining population in the next 18 years.

CLASSROOM FUN—Frances Burke and her sixth-grade classmates in Brecksville, Ohio, made life-size paper likenesses of themselves which were placed at their desks for their parents to identify at recent open house in the school.

THE AMOEBA AND HE—What effect will the weightlessness of space have on the cells of the human body? To try to find out, microbiologist Ramon McKinney peered through a microscope at a tiny, single-celled amoeba during brief periods of weightlessness attained by an airplane flying a special trajectory. Above, the Chance Vought Astronautics scientist straddles the aluminum and foam rubber apparatus which held the microscope as it floats inside the plane's cabin. Result: No change in the amoeba's behavior.

Enlistments in Marines Extended

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has extended enlistments of Navy and Marine personnel for up to one year saying they are needed to man the U.S. arms quarantine of Cuba.

McNamara, in announcing the order Tuesday night said extra manpower also is needed to reinforce the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

McNamara said the order applies to all men now on active duty and in effect means that there will be no discharges except for hardship until further notice up to one year from now. All Navy and Marine Corps personnel are volunteers.

Congress recently authorized President Kennedy to extend enlistments up to one year and to recall to active duty up to 150,000 Reservists to meet any crisis. The congressional authority expires next Feb. 28, two months after Congress reconvenes.

McNamara said no steps are being taken to call up any Reservists at this time.

The President's message was sent to all U.S. bases where the evacuees have arrived from the U.S. base at the eastern end of Cuba.

Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, also sent a message complimenting the women and children for the "calm and serene manner" in which you have accepted the threat of possible personal danger while living at Guantanamo.

JFK Consoles Evacuees

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today told women and children who were evacuated from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, that "it is my most earnest hope that certain circumstances will permit your return."

The President's message was sent to all U.S. bases where the evacuees have arrived from the U.S. base at the eastern end of Cuba.

Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, also sent a message complimenting the women and children for the "calm and serene manner" in which you have accepted the threat of possible personal danger while living at Guantanamo.

No Campaigning Cabinet Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has told his Cabinet not to lay off political campaigning during the Cuban crisis, the White House announced today.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy felt that in the current times it would be better if members of his Cabinet, who first of all are needed in Washington, would not participate in the congressional campaigns.

Several Cabinet members have spoken in behalf of candidates.

Shortly after issuing these orders, McNamara announced he had extended the enlistments and duty tours of all Navy and Marine officers and enlisted men for up to 12 months. This is to provide the necessary manpower for the blockade and reinforcement of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

The freeze will give the Navy an increase of about 10,000 men a month and the Marines 2,400 men a month. The only exemptions will be granted to men pleading unusual hardship.

Chinese Reds

Premier Chou En-lai to settle the border dispute was "pure hypocrisy."

The officials also rejected a comparison of Chinese proposal broadcast from Peking for a cease-fire under which each nation would withdraw its troops 12.5 miles from the present battle lines.

A government spokesman in the first official comment on the Chinese offer termed it "vague, confusing and deceptive." This was viewed as an indication Nehru would reject the proposal although the spokesman declined to go that far.

One Indian official said the offer of talks might be considered if the Chinese withdrew to the position they held Sept. 8. This was just before their troops crossed what India considers to be her northeastern border with Tibet in the area just east of Bhutan.

Some officials believed the Chinese proposal was made under pressure from Soviet Premier Khrushchev who wrote Nehru last weekend he hoped the border dispute would be settled through peaceful negotiations. Nehru reportedly replied Monday night that India refuses to negotiate with Peking under duress, and that "no negotiation is possible or feasible so long as an aggressor occupies our sacred soil."

The Indian government has insisted that the Chinese withdraw not only in the northeast but also pull out of positions they hold in the Ladakh area 800 miles to the northwest. China has refused to withdraw in the Ladakh area where they have built a road connecting Tibet and the western Chinese province of Sinkiang.

The Chinese said the unfortunate fighting was the result of a question left over by history. The statement said the 48-year-old McMahon Line which India claims as its border with Chinese-occupied Tibet is a creation that "British imperialists attempted to force upon China by taking advantage of the powerlessness of the Chinese and Indian peoples."

British diplomat Arthur H. McMahon established the line in negotiations with Tibet in 1914 when India was under British rule.

The Chinese government the statement said "has always stood for a peaceful settlement of the Chinese-Indian boundary question through negotiations and held that pending a peaceful settlement the extent of actual control by each side should be respected and neither side should alter the state of the boundary by unilateral action."

Reports from the northeast fighting said Chinese troops were driving for the important monastery town of Towang about 17 air-line miles inside the western end of the McMahon Line.

No Role Yet for State Guard

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today it is not certain what role, if any, the Arkansas National Guard will play in the Cuba emergency.

The governor speculated that the Arkansas Air National Guard probably would be used in some manner, at least supplying some personnel if no full units are called to duty.

The guard has two jet squadrons, both reconnaissance, one in Little Rock and one in Fort Smith.

Faubus said Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, adjutant general of the Arkansas National Guard, would have to inform him as to Arkansas' role in the crisis, and Faubus said Clinger apparently has not received any definite information.

Faubus said Brig. Gen. Frank Bailey, commander of the Arkansas Air National Guard, was called to Washington Monday for a conference on the emergency.

Faubus said Bailey thought he was going for talks on reorganization and did not learn until he arrived in the capital that his trip was tied in with the Cuba blockade.

Stock Market Reacts to War Scare

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market today reacted in typical "war scare" fashion to President Kennedy's arms quarantine of Cuba, with defense-related issues strong and other issues weak.

Prices were mixed and trading heavy.

The aerospace-rocket-electronics group made big gains. Steels and rails, of crucial importance in a military emergency, advanced solidly.

Utilities sank sharply. Losses were taken also by the international oils, vulnerable to takeover in the event of hostilities.

The ticker tape ran as much as 18 minutes late. More than a million shares were traded in a turbulent first hour.

Reflecting the cross currents of a confused market, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 212.2, with industrials up .4, rails up 1.2, and utilities down 1.5.

The usual speculative favorites which have dominated trading slipped sharply. IBM was down about 7, Polaroid more than 3.

Cuban American Sugar skidded more than a point.

Strength in the space age defense issues made the market look actually higher during the morning, but very few of these issues are represented in the popular market averages. The oils and utilities are heavily represented in the traditional market barometers, and these stocks were down on a broad front.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch each fell a point or so. American Telephone lost more than a point. Consolidated Edison and Public Service Electric & Gas lost more than 2 apiece.

The utilities fell with other consumer-related stocks. Sears Roebuck fell more than a point and Woolworth a fraction.

Most of the motor stocks took losses.

Chemicals were mixed, with Du Pont and Union Carbide both up more than a point. Air Reduction and Eastman Kodak were off about a point each.

Gains of about 2 were made by Lockheed, Boeing, and United Aircraft. Also ahead about 2 points were such steels as Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.13 at 569.73.

Corporate bonds declined except for Cuban bonds. U.S. government bonds also were lower.

Marshals Search for Robbery Loot

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—A score of U.S. marshals and postal inspectors converged on a neat ranch type North Weymouth home today in a search for the $1,551,277 stolen in a Plymouth mail truck robbery last Aug. 14. No money was found immediately.

Agents entered the home with a search warrant issued earlier in the day in Boston by U.S. Commissioner Peter J. Nelligan.

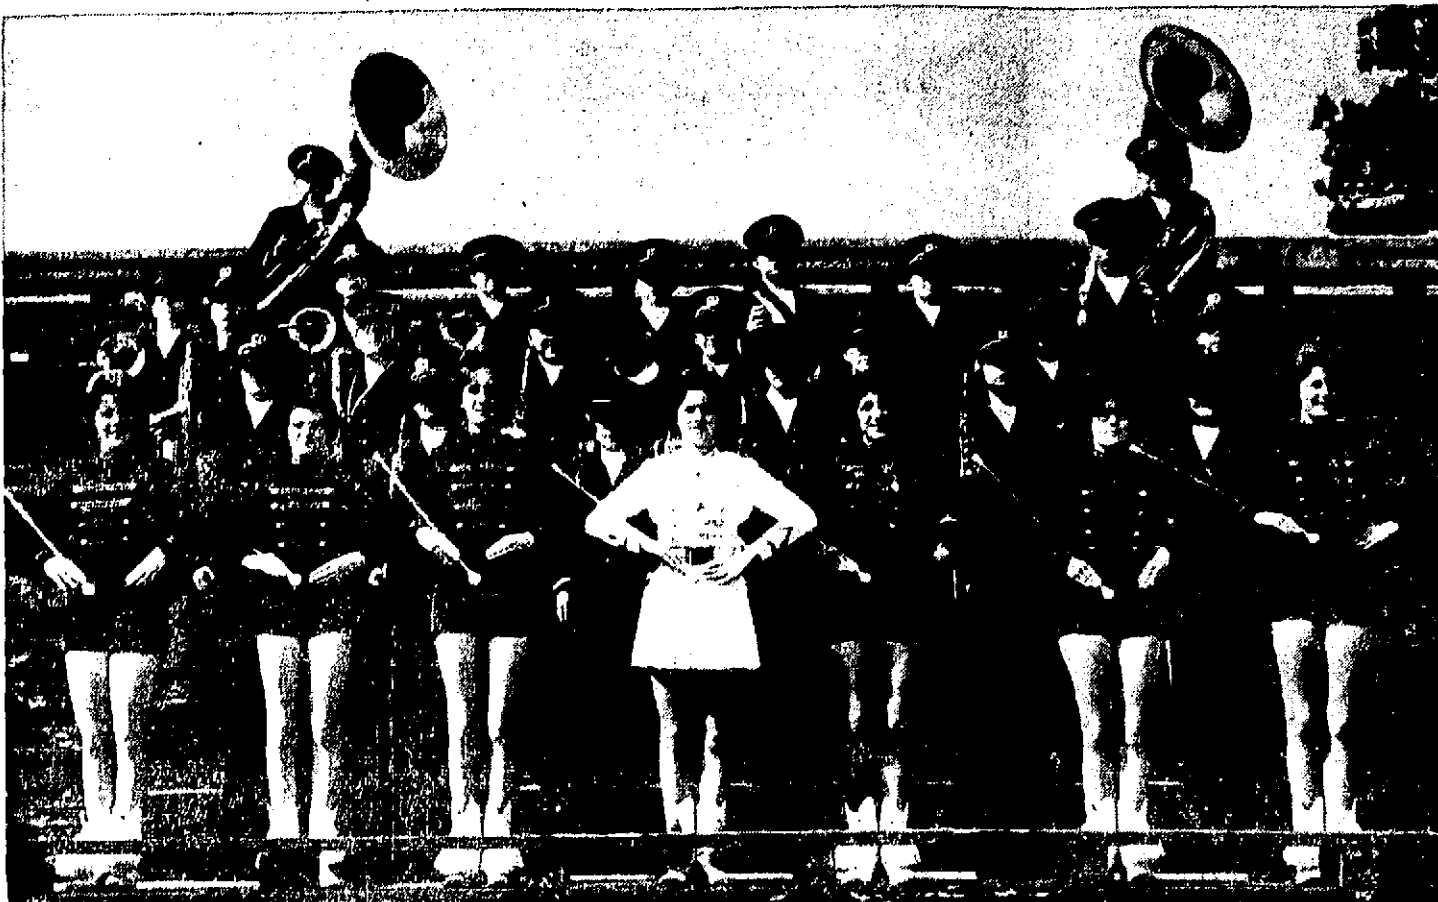

Named in the warrant was Thomas R. Richards, owner and occupant of the house which overlooks Hingham Bay. He was at work at a Quincy shipyard at the time. His wife, Sylvia, and 3-year-old son were at home.

Six deputy marshals and six inspectors entered the house and at least a dozen federal agents remained outside. Asst. U.S. Atty. Stanislaus Sucheck said they will be used if necessary.

Radio, TV Keeps Nation Informed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Network television and radio is doing a responsible, carefully restrained job of keeping the American public informed during the crisis over Cuba.

There has been no relaxation in coverage since the President's broadcast address Monday night. A constant stream of special news reports, programs and bulletins which have interrupted entertainment programs have kept us up to the minute. Some of the bulletins did not report new developments but were welcome reassurance that nothing new had occurred.

Television had its cameras on the meeting of the United Nations Security Council, the session of the Organization of American States and on the facade of the White House. From points where television could not set up cameras, it brought in the voice reports of its correspondents.

The correspondents stuck close to the facts, refraining from theory or prediction. They were uniformly serious, concerned and, thankfully, calm.

There must be some dancing in the corridors today at CBS. The authoritative Nielsen ratings, estimating audience sizes, were released Tuesday—with "The Lucy Show" in the No. 1 position.

What's more, in Nielsen's list of the top 10 weekly shows actually 11 because of a tie in ratings—CBS had seven; NBC, three, and ABC, one.

Next to the phenomenally successful Lucille Ball series, came "The Andy Griffith Show," followed by "The Danny Thomas Show." In fourth place was another new CBS comedy series, "Beverly Hillsbillies," tied with NBC's "Bonanza," a top show last season.

Then follows the Red Skelton hour, "Hazel," the Jack Benny

Political Background Is Helpful

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you yearn to succeed in politics, have the foresight to get born into a politically prominent family.

Incredible drive, money, gregariousness, a face a television camera can love, friends in the right places—all these help.

If you have a name the voters already know, you may find the early stages of your road wonderfully smoothed.

This always has been true in U.S. politics, but rarely have we had so many shining examples.

Look at the famous names that will be on the ballots Nov. 6, Kennedy, Lodge, Roosevelt, Rockefeller.

Move on to New York.

It's true that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller bears a famous name, but until recently—say, in the last quarter of a century—a name so synonymous with riches would have been looked up on as a liability.

Democrats, hoping to get in a few blows at whatever presidential ambitions Rockefeller has, a Democrat.

ler, Morgenthau, Long.

As usual, Massachusetts leads the familiar list.

In the Senate race it's Edward M. Kennedy, 30, who has a brother for President and another brother for attorney general. He's running against George Lodge, 34, whose father was a senator and an ambassador to the United Nations.

Another famous name was bumped off, Edward J. McCormack Jr., whose Uncle John is speaker of the House, was beaten in the primaries. A fourth famous name was added to the senatorial list H. Stuart Hughes, grandson of Charles Evans Hughes, who barely lost the presidency to Woodrow Wilson, is running as an independent.

On the other side of the political fence: Robert Taft, son of Sen. Robert A. Taft and grandson of President William Howard Taft, hopes to be elected representative at large from Ohio.

Of course, a name can be misleading, too.

A candidate for Congress in Minnesota is Harding Coolidge Noblitt. Well-known Republican political names, Harding and Coolidge, but Noblitt is trying as have chosen Robert M. Morgenthau to oppose him.

Morgenthau is relatively unknown, but he has a fine political name. His father, Henry Jr., was Franklin D. Roosevelt's secretary of the Treasury and his grandfather was Woodrow Wilson's ambassador to Turkey.

Speaking of FDR, his son, James, seeks re-election as a representative from California.

Then there are the Longs, a magical name in Louisiana. Willis W. Long hopes to be elected to the House and Russell B. Long expects to be re-elected to the Senate.
